

Town of Vinton Amendments to the Zoning and Subdivision Ordinances

Presentation for the Vinton Town Council Retreat
October 27, 2017

Background: Vinton Zoning Ordinance, Appendix B

- First adopted by the Town in February 1951 with amendments adopted throughout the 1960s, 1970s, and 1980s.
- Current zoning ordinance was adopted by Town Council on December 19, 1995, along with a new Zoning Map. This ordinance has been amended in piecemeal fashion between 1995 and present as required by state code and/or as directed by Town Council, e.g. Mixed Use Development District.
- As part of the Vinton Zoning Ordinance, floodplain ordinances were adopted in 1973 and 1988. An amendment to floodplain ordinance was adopted in April 2014 to meet the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) requirements.
- There were major sign ordinance amendments done in 1993 and 2009.

Background: Vinton Subdivision Ordinance, Appendix A

- First adopted on July 15, 1959.
- Appeared as Appendix A in the 1966 Vinton Town Code
- Current Subdivision Ordinance was adopted on January 20, 1998.

Components of the Zoning Ordinance:

- District Classifications
- District Regulations (Density, Parking, Setbacks)
- Sign Regulations
- Telecommunications Ordinance
- Floodplain Regulations (Overlay)
- Subdivision Ordinance
- Urban Development Areas (UDA)
- New Zoning District(s):
 - Mixed Use Development (MUD) District—already created

Policy, Code, and Urban Design

- Alignment of zoning and subdivision ordinances with the comprehensive plan documents, Urban Development Areas (UDAs) requirements, adjoining localities land uses, and regional plans
- Strategic framework for new zoning and subdivision ordinances
- New structure for base districts, overlay zones, and floating zones

Smart Growth Principles

- Urban Design Framework for the UDAs
- Traditional Neighborhood Development (TND) Guidelines
- Commercial and Residential Infill Development Guidelines
- Street Design Guidelines
- Low Impact Development Practices to Manage Stormwater

Controversial Issues for Consideration:

- Accessory Structures
 - Sizes/lot coverage, heights, setbacks
 - PODS/temporary storage containers
- Accessory Dwellings - “Mother-in-law apartments”
- Traditional Neighborhood Design Guidelines
- Street Width Requirements
- Off-Street Parking Requirements
- Sign Regulations
- Automobile Dealerships
- Tow Lots
- Solar/Wind Power Regulations
- Telecommunications Tower Regulations
- Outdoor Storage/Display

Expenses and Time Involved:

- UDA consultants—paid by OIPI grant in the amount of $65,000
- Planning and Zoning personnel
- RVARC personnel through requested work program
- Advertising costs for meetings and public hearings
- Meeting costs—refreshments, venue rental, etc.
- Printing costs for documents, maps, and renderings
- A comprehensive update of the zoning and subdivision ordinances will be time-consuming and could take 2 years or more

Advisory Committees Needed for the Amendment Process...

Increasing Citizen Participation in the Process...

- Use the following platforms to engage citizens: Town Website, Town Facebook and Twitter Pages, Survey Monkey, Email or Direct Mail, RVTV-3 and other media, Pop-up booth at an event (Festivals) or high-traffic location (Kroger), Open house gatherings, Public Meetings/Hearings (Planning Commission and Town Council), Partner organizations (Chamber of Commerce, Lions Clubs, Senior Center, Historical Society).
- For open houses or meetings, have food and/or door prizes available to attendees to help increase the amount of turnout—advertise widely that there will be food and/or door prizes.
- Make citizens feel that their comments DO MATTER and ARE Important. Schedule comment period(s) to receive public input.
- Make sure public input about the amendments is timely and happens early enough to influence the outcome and can continue throughout the process.
- Have a balance between in-person and online public participation.
